

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

TIMELY POULTRY TOPICS.
Diseases are cheaper than disease. Keep pure, fresh water always within reach.
Poultry in confinement, to do well, need a variety of food.
Crowding induces disease and lowers the vitality of fowls.
In selecting a location for a poultry yard, choose a light, sunny soil.
If cats or rats bothered you last year, plan to curtail them this season. Use plenty of inch-mesh wire netting, both for yards and windows. It does not take many lost chicks to pay for quite a piece of netting.
The value of charcoal can scarcely be overestimated and it should be fed to fowls of all ages as a preventive of bowel disorders and disease. It is best to keep it before the fowls at all times, as there is no danger of them eating too much. Charcoal has a great purifying effect in absorbing noxious gases and will correct many digestive disorders.
Provide small dark and secluded nests for the hens and they won't be so likely to eat or break eggs.
Beil small potatoes, carrots or beets, and wash fine and mix with cornmeal or shorts, adding a little fresh meat, and see how the birds will relish a mess of this food occasionally by way of variety.
Dried or steamed oats are one of the best whole grain feeds that can be given to fowls. For laying hens it is most excellent. Sprouted oats is also a splendid feed and not only good for the laying hen but is fine for the young chicks after they are about two weeks old.
The time to doctor a fowl is before it gets sick, and the way to do this is to keep it free from lice, feed judiciously, keep the quarters clean and well ventilated, supply good clean water, plenty of clean grit or gravel, avoid drafts and use only the most vigorous and healthy birds in the breeding pen.
The poultry raiser who does his best is almost always the one who carefully and closely picks out each year only his choicest specimens and breeds from them exclusively. As a natural result, his flocks become better and better each year. By the same token, the man who is breeding for heavy egg production should pick out his very best layers to use exclusively as breeders, and in the course of a few generations the habit of prolificity will become firmly established in this family.—Farm Life.

Be sure to cut the bundle open, shake out all the packing and lay trees in thin layers. Then throw a layer of dirt on the roots and on the whole length of trees to the very tips. Work the soil in around the roots and tops, packing the dirt firmly. You secure dirt for this work from another trench parallel with the first one which in turn is filled with trees and covered with dirt. Smooth the sides so as to turn off the water and dig a trench entirely around the mound to carry off the water. If they are to be left in winter it is very well to cover the top of the mound with dead leaves or brush to prevent alternate freezing and thawing.
To prevent your orchard taking enough pride in it to get your rows absolutely straight and the correct distance apart. There are numerous methods recommended for laying out an orchard and different men have different plans. Start your first row about fifteen feet from the fence and leave fifteen feet of row at the end of the rows for turning when plowing. It is well to lay off the rows with a plow, digging the holes in the furrow.—Lloyd Stark, in Farm Life.

TO DETERMINE MERIT OF HOGS BY EXPERIMENTAL BREEDING

Although there is a higher percentage of purebred hogs in the country than of any other class of live stock, there is much to be improved. And there is much to be improved concerning the relative merits of scrubs, crossbreds, and purebreds. To make some of the points clearer, the Animal Husbandry Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, is starting a breeding and feeding experiment that will contrast the results of using scrub, crossbred and purebred sows on scrub and crossbred pigs. If appropriate, provide sufficient money may be that the effect of using crossbred and scrub sows on purebred sows will be studied.
Ten crossbred sows of various breeds, and 10 scrub sows of the same breeds will be used. Half of each of these groups will be bred to a purebred boar; half of the first group will be bred to a crossbred, and half of the other group will be bred to a scrub. The same scheme of breeding will be carried on from generation to generation. Some of the offspring will be fed on and some of them will be kept for breeding before being fed out. Shots from the different lots will be put in feed lots together and fed alike so that a fair comparison can be made. Some of these scrubs and crossbreds will be compared in feeding trials with purebreds raised on the department's experimental farm at Beltsville, Md. Some will be put into different experimental lots on various farms.
Nearly everybody thinks the purebred is superior to the scrub, but there is disagreement among farmers about the merits of purebred and crossbred feeders. The department hopes that in due time its experiments will give results that will answer any doubts.

PROPER STORAGE

OF POTATOES
Ventilation is necessary for potatoes just as it is in the cow stable. Many farmers store their potatoes away from cellars in the fall and shut them in tight until spring. If no air gets in by chance heavy damage results. Potatoes which do not have proper ventilation during storage in winter will often become black hearted. This greatly reduces their value for the table and makes them less likely to sprout in the spring. If any considerable number of them are black hearted they are unfit for seed. This is often a cause for poor stands of potatoes.

The best method is to control the ventilation and temperature of the cellars in which potatoes are stored. The warmer the cellar the greater the need for ventilation, but even with a cool cellar improperly ventilated will not keep potatoes in good condition. The ideal temperature for potato storage is slightly above freezing, from 33 to 35 degrees. It is first class practice to keep a thermometer in the cellar and control the temperature by ventilation so far as possible. Open the windows when the temperature is slightly above freezing outside. Keep them closed at other times, along with the ventilation so far as possible. Open the windows when the temperature is slightly above freezing outside. Keep them closed at other times, along with the ventilation so far as possible. Open the windows when the temperature is slightly above freezing outside. Keep them closed at other times, along with the ventilation so far as possible.

CARING FOR PIGS

DURING WINTER TIME
Pigs should have proper mineral matter before them at all times, especially in winter. It will keep them free from worms and in good general condition.

The following is recommended: One bushel of wood ashes or soft coal, eight pounds of air slacked lime, one bushel of charcoal, eight pounds of salt, four pounds of sulphur and two pounds of copperas. The ashes, lime, charcoal, salt and sulphur should be placed in a pile on a smooth floor and mixed with the shovel until the mass shows an even color. The copperas should be dissolved in a gallon of water and the mixture sprinkled over the pile and mixed thoroughly with it. The copperas will dissolve readily if placed in a sack and suspended in the water.

Although pigs do not require roughage like other farm animals, they will do well with a proper amount of succulents (food in winter). Silage, potatoes, roots and apples are useful for succulent foods for them. Corn silage which contains a good proportion of mature corn and not too much wood, makes excellent succulent food. The pigs may not like it at first, but if a little grain is sprinkled over it they will soon learn to relish it. It should be fed on a smooth floor.

SURVEILLANCE OF ENEMY ALIENS DURING THE WAR

New York, Nov. 1.—The score of federal surveillance of enemy aliens in the New York district during the war was disclosed today when Thomas D. McCarthy, United States marshal since 1915, turned over the office to William C. Hecht, appointed to the post by President Harding. Marshal Hecht served as deputy marshal during the McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft administrations.
Former Marshal McCarthy said that registered enemy aliens subject to regulations of the marshal's office numbered 1,600 men and 30,000 women during the war and their daily visits to his office numbered 1,500.
Two thousand enemy aliens, McCarthy said, were confined during the war in office and 400 of that number subsequently were sent to Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

JEWETT CITY

Between five and six hundred visitors to St. Mary's cemetery Sunday were services for the dead were conducted by Rev. J. J. McCabe and Rev. J. H. Seiferman. The "Tridium" or three days' devotion began Sunday. There were the usual All Saints' Day services at St. Mary's church Sunday, with largely attended masses at 6 and 7.30.

The State Daughters of the Revolution offered a prize for best attendance to all night school in Jewett City. One of 467 night schools in the state Jewett City took the prize. Monday evening Anne Brewster Fanning Chapter, D. A. R., entertained the night school in an assembly hall, at which time the state D. A. R. medals were presented. The programme opened with the salute to the flag, the flag being held by Roger Vachon, the son of Louis Vachon, a member of the class who died last year. After the singing of America Miss Eva Huff, a girl of twelve, played Alpine Horn. Later she played Carols of the Bird, also a duet with Principal Clement. Snow-bells. Violet Harris recited Epaminondas and his Aunt.

Miss Margaret T. Hickey, field agent for the department of Americanization of the state board of education, charming the audience with her address to the class, as she told how the town, state and government cared for every man and woman, and since the citizens are good, America will not be good. And everybody must study in order to be better citizens. The D. A. R. work for the betterment of the country and its citizens as did their ancestors.

Mrs. B. C. Bliss, regent of the D. A. R., congratulated the class on its attendance record which is an honor to the town, which makes it a very eligible. Supt. Clement presented the badges which were in the form of a gold bordered tablet on a red, white and blue ribbon. The inscription read: "This certifies that _____ is a member of the Riverside school of Griswold which has the best record of attendance in Connecticut for 1920-1921. Everett J. Lake, Governor."

The pupils who received the medals were: Melbina Ferris, Marie Roy, Emily Metcalf, Josephine Haydon, Julia Kunka, Victoria Kovak, Steve Foreman, Antonio Kargul, Michael Nowak, Albert Pojak, Joseph Formato, George Macchini, Kalli Anthony, Joseph Kowalski, Antonio Argal, J. Stauden, Theodor A. R. served cake and coffee. Games and music entertained the class.
Miss Elizabeth Dealy has closed her business as proprietor of the Maple Leaf and the apartments occupied by her in the Black Block were vacated Tuesday. The Jewett City Trust Co., which leases the property, contemplates improvement and additions to their banking room, which will begin at once. The partition which divides the apartments will be removed. The banking company will be extended to occupy two-thirds of the business front. A directors' room will be established in the rear of the newly acquired part, which will be fitted with new furniture and whatever additions go to make up the necessities of a modern room of this sort. The front entrance to what has been the Maple Leaf will be closed and in front will be arranged a private business office for the use of the president and treasurer. Plans of other minor details will be perfected so that every comfort and convenience may be afforded the public.

The local hunting fraternity has received a little more light, when the members learn that pheasants have been liberated in Lisbon as well as Griswold.
Griswold hunters, members of the Fish and Game club of some years ago procured their birds from the late hatcheries. E. Curtis Hull went them one better. He raised his own pheasants from eggs which were his personal expense. His skill in raising them was evidenced by the many successive broods he was able to raise. Mr. Hull, a hunter, a lover of the woods and a native of Lisbon, liberated all his spare birds on that side of the Quinebaug. So, now it is plain whence came the handsome pheasants being bagged in Lisbon this fall. Steve Duffy secured a fine male last week, which makes three from Lisbon and three from Griswold. When a hunter is fortunate, to the extent of bagging a handsome pheasant, he is justified in being a little elated.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Congregational church met at Mrs. G. W. Robinson's and voted to pack a barrel to be sent south. The meetings are to be held on the second Thursdays of the month.

Wendell E. Barre has purchased of William McNeil the valuable lots on upper east Main street situated opposite the residence of P. C. Whittemore. Mr. La Barre's holding will abut G. A. Haskell's lots on the south.

The new fall changes in Shore Line trolley scheduled naturally does not affect the local time card of the Connecticut Company.

Miss Louise Cutney of Boston was the guest of Doris Myott for the week-end. After three successive failures the weatherman finally produced his long forecasted rain Tuesday. The precipitation, however, was all too little. Seldom have so many reports come in from the outlying districts telling of low water in wells and springs. Sunday it was remarked by many automobile parties, how low the ponds and streams were all about the surrounding country. An observer of weather conditions for years says that he never has noted the "shutting down of winter" until swamps and brooks were pretty well filled up.

Monday evening the younger population of the town gave themselves over to the enjoyment of Halloween pranks. Small village queens with golden crowns and trailing gowns, with handsome mustached buccaners, love, enjoy the freedom of the streets. Ghosts with glaring Jack-o'-lantern heads caused a great scurrying among the small fry. With an occasional tick-tack on the window-pane, or a ring at the door, that when answered disclosed no waiting guest.

TALK OF A NATION-WIDE STRIKE OF COAL MINERS

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—(By The A. P.)—A nation-wide strike of coal miners seemed inevitable tonight if operators heed the injunction issued by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson which prescribed the "check-off" of union dues.

A telegram sent late today from headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America after it had been definitely learned that the injunction was not yet in effect, advised union officials to regard discontinuance of the "check-off" as breaking the existing wage agreement.

The telegram, sent by President John L. Lewis, Vice President Philip Murray and Secretary William Green, said:

"Any abrogation or setting aside of any part or section of this agreement, including the section providing for the checking off of dues and assessments, cannot be regarded as other than a violation of the agreement and should be treated accordingly by the district officers and local unions within their jurisdiction."
The states into which the message was sent were Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Wyoming, Montana and Washington. The message did not go to officials of the three anthracite districts in Pennsylvania, or to partially organized bituminous districts, because the "check-off" is not used there.

DEMSEY FIGURES IN SUIT FOR ALIENATION

New York, Nov. 1.—Jack Demsey, champion heavyweight of the world, today had his attorneys file papers denying the allegations in a complaint of Albert Siegel which has not yet been filed. Siegel is the husband of Bee Palmer, a dancer. Demsey is said to have been served in Minnesota with a complaint in a suit for alienation. His general denial of the allegations is the first paper in the case recorded here.

SONS CONTESTING WILL OF THE LATE JOHN McMULLEN

South Norwalk, Nov. 1.—Frank and James McMullen of Oakland, Calif., today started action to break the will of their uncle, the late John McMullen, head of the Atlantic Pacific Dredging company, who died last August, claiming that the deceased was mentally incapacitated when he drew his will a few days before his death. The hearing is being held in the New York probate court before Judge Henry W. Gregory. By the terms of the will, the estate, which is valued at approximately two million

STATE TREASURER GILPATRICK SENDS CHECKS TO TOWNS

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 1.—State Treasurer Gilpatrick sent to the treasurers of towns in the state, Monday afternoon, checks for the amount of the penalty tax to which each was entitled, for 1921. There were 122 towns in the list. There were no estates in the other thirty-seven towns liable for the tax. The total amount collected was $215,241. After deductions for refunds to estates, etc., the state deducted 20 per cent. of the total and transferred the amount of this percentage, amounting to $43,048 to the civil list funds of the state. The total amount distributed to the towns on Monday was $172,193.

MRS. EGAN HAS STUDIED FAR EASTERN QUESTIONS

New York, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Eleanor Franklin Egan of New York, one of the four women appointed on the advisory committee to the American delegation to the armament conference, has studied and written of Far Eastern questions during the last seventeen years, several of which she spent in the Orient.
She first crossed the Pacific in 1904 to make a tour for magazine articles, and remained in Japan and Korea throughout the Russo-Japanese war as a correspondent for Leslie's magazine. She went to the Philippines with Secretary of War Taft in 1907 for the opening of the first assembly there.

Since 1911 she had made four trips to the Orient, recently visiting the famous area in China and again touring the Philippines.

AFFIDAVIT SHOULD TEND TO CLEAR ROSCOE ARBUCKLE

New York, Nov. 1.—Lowell Sherman, motion picture actor and a guest at the party in the San Francisco hotel apartment of Roscoe (Pat) Arbuckle which preceded the death of Virginia Rappe, another guest, today made a sworn statement denying that Arbuckle at any time was in a room alone with the girl. Arbuckle now is waiting trial on a manslaughter charge.
The statement was in the form of an affidavit before Assistant District Attorney Brothers and David S. Mayer. Mayer was commissioned by Judge Harold Londerbach of the California superior court to take testimony of absent witnesses. Charles H. Brennan, one of Arbuckle's attorneys, was present.

Sherman declared that Miss Rappe complained of being ill and was carried into Arbuckle's bed room and that Arbuckle was in the room only when others were present.

QUARREL OF JANITORS ENDS IN SHOOTING

Birdsboro, Nov. 1.—William Anderson, janitor of an office building, who was shot while on duty early today, was in a very critical condition at noon today. According to statements made by the wounded man, he had had an argument with Lewis Masie, another janitor in the building, and the shooting followed. The police are searching for Masie.

CADILLAC
"The Standard of the World"

The smooth, agile power so characteristic of the Cadillac, finds full expression in this handsome Type 61 Roadster.

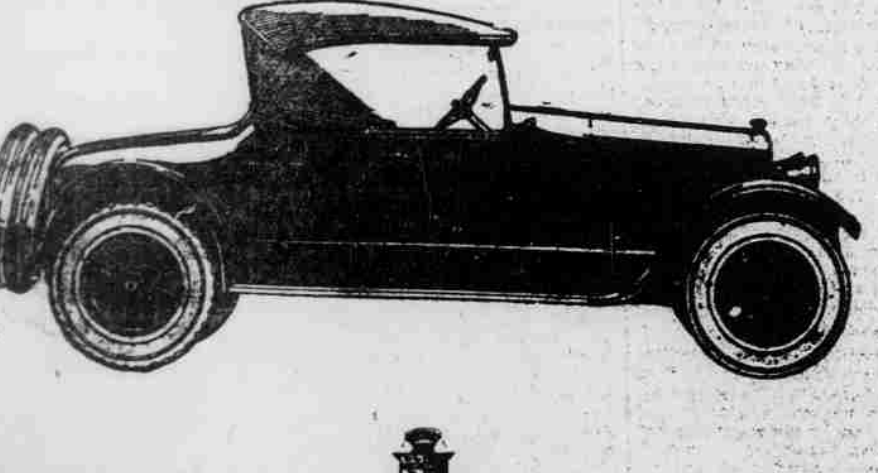

It benefits fully by the few but notable improvements recorded by Cadillac engineering in the Type 61.

Among these betterments is a lower center of gravity, which has been achieved without lessening road clearance.

The result is an entirely new degree of road-steadiness and riding smoothness.

It can be said with sincerity that in the Type 61, a delightful discovery awaits those who had convinced themselves that the ultimate in buoyant, luxurious travel had previously been reached in the Cadillac.

Norwich—The A. C. Swan Co.—New London

Home Again — with the Same Old Backache!

DOES every day bring the same old, nagging backache? Do you rise in the morning lame and stiff? Drag through the day with your back a dull, unceasing ache? Evening find you "all played out," thinking only of a little rest before tomorrow's weary grind? Then don't be discouraged. Realize it's merely a sign you haven't taken good care of yourself—been overworking and haven't had enough fresh air, exercise, rest and sleep. This has probably strained your kidneys. So instead of worrying, just take things easier for awhile and help the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Then if it's kidney backache, you'll soon get over it and the headaches, dizziness, tired feelings and bladder troubles will go, too. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Norwich Folks Found Relief:

G. E. Disque, 50 Hedge Ave., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a reliable kidney remedy. I have had backaches and other symptoms of disordered kidneys. Being on my feet all day as I have to be, weakens my back, and when night comes my back feels tired. I had often read in the paper of Doan's Kidney Pills helping many people and this led me to use them. They have always cured these troubles, and I am seldom without them in my home."

Mrs. E. Mulkin, 613 N. Main St., says: "I had dull, aching pains across the small of my back, and I noticed it mostly when I over exerted myself or after being on my feet a great deal. My back felt weak and tired. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me great relief when I used them." (Statement given May 20, 1916).

Albert P. Dunham, 9 Durkey Lane, says: "Bending over and walking so much as I have to do at my trade as a spinner, worked hard on my back until my kidneys gave out. I suffered quite a while with constant pains in the small of my back just over my kidneys. When I bent over sharp pains shot through my back that fairly took my breath away. I had to get up a number of times to pass the kidney secretions. A couple of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills from the Lee & Omond Drug Co. cured the trouble."

Mrs. E. H. Chapman, 12 Stanton Street, says: "I was feeling miserable with my back. I made up my mind that it came from my kidneys. Every move I made felt as though a knife were cutting into my back. When I would move quickly I felt dizzy. A friend told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. A box of Doan's gave me relief in a few days. I finally got such great relief that I haven't had to use them only once since a while since and they have always given the same good benefit."
